PRESS RELEASE

Execulink Telecom to Bring Fibre Network to Tillsonburg

Woodstock, ON – December 6, 2019 – Yesterday, Execulink Telecom announced plans to bring their Fibre to the Home services to homes and businesses in the town of Tillsonburg, with installations beginning in summer 2020. Once the project is complete, customers will have access to lightning-fast Internet, crystal-clear TV and reliable Home Phone solutions.

Ian Stevens, President and CEO of Execulink Telecom, delivered the news via Press Conference at the Tillsonburg Community Centre. Tillsonburg Mayor, Stephen Molnar, Deputy Mayor, Dave Beres along with other local dignitaries, media and members of the community were in attendance for the announcement.

“Tillsonburg is a flourishing town rich with innovation and economic development. Its progressiveness fits the mold of our target build communities and is a suitable choice for introducing new technological advancements,” said Stevens. “Our mission is to bring residents and business owners that awesome telecom experience they deserve and improve the day-to-day lives of the local growing community with our Fibre services.”

Fibre to the Home is the delivery of a communications signal over optical fibre. In comparison with other methods of delivery, Fibre's underground infrastructure is unaffected by weather and allows for reliable TV and Phone services, with some of the fastest Internet speeds in Ontario. Customers can look forward to enjoying blazing-fast Internet speeds up to 1 Gbps.

Construction has already begun to homes and businesses on the Northeast side of town and the company is working to develop maps and timelines for the rest of the town.

“This is an Oxford local success story and we welcome Execulink to the town of Tillsonburg,” said Tillsonburg Mayor, Stephen Molnar. “Execulink and their entire vision goes back years, and has always been at the root of community. We recognize this investment as we proceed together down this pathway of innovation and partnership.”

“At Execulink, we believe that an awesome telecom experience starts with being present in and supporting our local communities,” said Stevens. “Therefore we are excited to announce that we will be opening a storefront in the spring of 2020 that will be centrally located downtown at 161 Broadway! We are proud to hire and invest in local employees and will be looking for local candidates to fill the positions of Store Representatives.”

The Company has already established a partnership with the Tillsonburg Community Centre as a Wi-Fi provider and anticipates collaborating with more community organizations in the future.

Execulink Telecom has been servicing Oxford County for over 100 years and continues to bring Fibre to neighboring communities in the area. Residents are encouraged to call 1-866-765-2282 to sign up.
