

Execulink Telecom Emerges as the Platinum Season Sponsor for Newly-Restored Oxford Drive In

(Woodstock, ON) July 31, 2020 – Execulink Telecom, the proudly local telecom provider headquartered in Woodstock Ontario, has announced its role of Platinum Season Sponsor for the Oxford Drive In.

“We pride ourselves on being fiercely local and supporting local initiatives that better our communities,” says Ian Stevens, President and CEO of Execulink Telecom. “Oxford County is full of kind, hard-working people who deserve peace of mind in knowing they’re staying safe while enjoying all that summer has to offer. We’re thrilled to be the Oxford Drive In’s 2020 Platinum Season Sponsor and contribute to such an exciting and uplifting project.”

The Oxford Drive In laid dormant for years until hopeful revivalists Angila Peters and Adam Shaw, both of Woodstock, came together to reopen the old community favourite. Residents of Woodstock and the surrounding area were thrilled with the news and the outdoor movie theatre quickly amassed a dedicated social media following, with people clamouring for the possibility of a safe, socially-distanced movie viewing experience amidst a global pandemic.

Andrea Atkinson, Vice President Customer Experience at Execulink Telecom, shares that “Execulink is built on a long-standing set of values that support our mission to connect people with the things that matter most. Sometimes, what matters most is the ability to enjoy a classic summer experience with your loved ones while knowing you’re safe. Sometimes, what matters most is the simplest of things. We’re proud to offer support to the Oxford Drive In while they create positive impacts in our community.”
